

SEEKS SAFETY UNDER THE AMERICAN FLAG

GENERAL DIAZ ESCAPES FROM VERA CRUZ ON UNITED STATES GUNBOAT.

EVERYTHING PREPARED

Consul Canada Had Launch in Waiting at Harbor Beach, Should It Be Needed.

Vera Cruz, Oct. 28.—General Felix Diaz applied to the American consulate during the night for protection and was taken on board the U. S. gunboat Wheeling, Jose Sandoval, and Cecilio Ocon, Mexicans, and Alexander Williams, an American newspaper correspondent who had made similar application to the consulate were also taken on board the gunboat with Gen. Diaz.

Life in Peril. It was late last evening when Gen. Diaz became convinced of the advisability of seeking American protection. From the hotel where he had been staying and which is contiguous to the United States consulate, he made his way to the consulate and informed Consul Williams W. Canada he had received information that his life was in peril. He told the consul that a number of his adherents had been put in jail. Gen. Diaz accompanied to the consulate by Sandoval and Ocon, who also requested protection for themselves.

A Surprise. The fact that General Diaz and two of his supporters had been taken on board the Wheeling was not discovered by the Mexican authorities until this morning. The flight took place after midnight, the three men taking the risk of an excursion over the red tops, which were guarded by armed men, into the American consulate.

Sought Protection. When they arrived inside the room they asked that Consul Williams Canada be called. Apparently suffering from great excitement they assured him when he came that their lives were in peril. Gen. Diaz declared they had knowledge that orders for their arrest had been issued and they begged for his protection.

Launch Ready. In reply Consul Williams Canada pointed to the water front some 200 yards distant. "There's a launch there," he said. "You'd better make a run for it." The fugitives hesitated for some time to make the run, but at last they started. The launch of the American consulate was patrolled by detectives.

When they finally left the door of the consulate the detectives on duty apparently recognized them. They walked deliberately through the street to the pier, where they presented a card from Consul General Canada to the officer in command of the launch.

Detectives Foiled. The American naval officer hurried them on board, the launch cast off, steamed quickly across the harbor to the Wheeling and put them on board. The launch returned to the hotel and about the streets were still watching the place long after daylight.

Important Characters. The Mexican who sought refuge with Felix Diaz on board the gunboat Wheeling last night, have been prominent in Mexican politics. Cecilio Ocon was charged on May 29 in the Mexican capital of Mexico City with the murder of a deputy by Querido Mojena, now minister of foreign affairs, with being the "actual murderer of Gustavo Madero." This denunciation was made in connection with the payment of $15,000 to be paid to Ocon "for service rendered to the government."

Is an Attorney. Sandoval, the other fugitive, was an attorney in Mexico City and an adherent of the late General Bernardo Reyes, at one time secretary of war who was shot while leading the rebels toward the national palace during the attack on General Felix Diaz in February this year.

Sandoval was arrested on March 2, 1912 in Mexico City, charged with rebellion, when he came there with his purpose to be an antagonist to President Francisco Madero from Major Magdon of the United States army stating that the bearer and many followers of Reyes in the United States and Cuba desired to return to Mexico City and resume their vocations.

Fact Reported. Washington, Oct. 28.—Rear Admiral Fletcher in command of the squadron of the United States navy, presence of Felix Diaz has been reported in an official dispatch received at the navy department shortly after 10:30 a. m. The navy department immediately called on the department to decide what disposition is to be made of the fugitives.

Direct Orders. General Felix Diaz was given asylum in the American consulate at Vera Cruz and on the gunboat Wheeling at the direct instructions of the United States government. Cabled a few days ago by Secretary Bryan to the United States, the instructions were that the United States should not shelter Diaz if his personal safety were endangered.

Planned Ahead. Officials were convinced that Diaz was contemplating putting himself under the protection of the United States when he went recently under guard to a hotel adjoining the American embassy. His determination to remain in the city over Sunday was given asylum. At 1 p. m. Thursday Diaz and two friends with Williams, American correspondent of the New York Herald, got on board the gunboat. All asked for protection from Washington as to their disposition. The message was at once laid before Secretary Bryan.

Wheeling Chosen. The Wheeling was chosen for that particular purpose because she was able to approach the shore at Vera Cruz where the big battleships command here had been ordered to anchor about six miles out from the city.

Officials here say there is no question whatever of the right of a naval commander to extend asylum to such a fugitive as Diaz, as there have been many precedents to support such action.

Will be Transhipped. It is presumed that once on the Wheeling, General Diaz would be soon transported to one of the battleships in the lower harbor to remain until he can be transferred to one of the merchant steamers bound for another port.

Several messages from Charles O'Shaughnessy at Mexico City contained no mention of the Diaz incident.

On Retired List. Mexico City, Mexico, Oct. 28.—General Felix Diaz was placed on the retired list of the Mexican army today by order of General Anselmo Huerta, minister of war. General Diaz had requested by telegraph on Sunday to be allowed to retire and General Huerta, after conferring with President Huerta, had held a commission for thirty years.

The leaders of the Diaz party said today they understood that General Diaz, in requesting to be allowed to retire, was simply following the example of General Eugenio Rascan, Catholic candidate for the vice presidency; Brigadier General David La Fuente, liberal-republican candidate for the presidency and other candidates at Sunday election.

ALLOWS AFFIDAVIT ON LORIMER FUNDS

Judge Pam Makes Ruling in Trial of Men Connected With Funk Conspiracy Case.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Judge Pam, before whom Daniel Donahoe and Isaac Stiefel are being tried for alleged conspiracy to defame Clarence S. Funk, today ruled that Funk's affidavit regarding the collection of funds to elect William Lorimer to the United States senate was admissible.

The affidavit was first presented in the suit brought by John C. Henning, asking $20,000 from Funk, whom he charged with alienating the affections of Mrs. Henning. Funk made the affidavit in connection with his contention that the Henning suit was brought at the instance of persons seeking revenge for his testimony that Edward Hines, a political lieutenant of Senator Lorimer, had sought a bribe from Funk in explaining that "it cost $100,000 to put Lorimer over."

It was stated that the affidavit would be read upon completion of cross examination of Mrs. Henning. During the cross examination of the defense Mrs. Henning's voice faltered, but she clung in detail to her testimony to the effect that she never knew Funk and that her testimony was purchased.

INVESTMENT BANKERS MEETING IN CHICAGO

Nearly a Thousand Members in Attendance—Sessions to Extend Over Three Days.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Nearly a thousand members of the Investment Bankers' Association of America are in attendance at the second annual convention of that association which opened here today at the Blackstone Hotel for a session extending over three days. The association was organized in New York City last year with a view of bettering the conditions in the investment banking business.

Its recent activities have been legislative and educational lines with questions, the proposed income tax law and various state laws in regard to corporations. Among the speakers at the convention will be James J. Hill, former president of the Great Northern Railroad, who will speak on "Financialing of the Future"; Samuel Insull, president of the Commonwealth Edison Company of Chicago, who will speak on "Electrical Financing"; William A. Scott, director of the school of commerce, University of Wisconsin; Edmund D. Fisher, deputy controller of the City of New York; George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial National Bank of Chicago; J. Lau-Chicago, and many others.

LAKE PORTS WARNED OF A COMING STORM

Severe Northeasterly Blow Will Bring Lake Traffic to a Standstill.

Duluth, Oct. 28.—Warnings of a northeasterly storm were posted at all points along Lake Superior today by the United States weather bureau, and marine traffic is at a standstill, while boats waited for what was predicted to be the most severe blow of the year. Thirty-five vessels were held in the Duluth-Superior harbor by the warning.

STORM IN IOWA. Sioux City, Ia., Oct. 28.—The first touch of real winter in this section came today. Over an inch of snow has fallen.

First Snow. Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 28.—The first snow of the year fell here today. Reports over central Nebraska indicate a light snow fall. The storm here was accompanied by a high wind with lowering temperatures.

SEND STATE TROOPS TO COLORADO MINES

Colorado National Guard on Way to Take Charge of Strike Situation.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 28.—Mobilized in approximately six hours the command of the Colorado National Guard began moving toward the southern Colorado coal fields today in compliance with proclamations. Adjutant general John Chase announced that the first troop train to leave Denver before 10 o'clock this morning.

CONDUCTOR CHARGED MURDER OF A TRAMP

Puts Wayfarer Off Morning Train at Lancaster, Wis., And Stands Trial for Murder.

Lancaster, Wis., Oct. 28.—The right of a conductor to put a tramp off a moving train is to be tried out in a murder case here next month. Conductor Harry French of La Crosse of the Burlington railway is charged with kicking Edward Murphy, a tramp, off the train while it was in motion. Murphy fell under the wheels and was killed. French was arrested and bound to the circuit court for trial. He was released to bail of $10,000. The order of Railway Conductors is financing French's defense.

STEPHENSON'S NEPHEW FOUND DEAD IN A SLEEPING CAR

Milwaukee, Oct. 28.—Isaac Stephenson, Jr., nephew of Senator Isaac Stephenson and son of Robert Stephenson, was found dead in a sleeping car on a C. & N. W. train in his berth today when it was en route to Chicago. He was 54 years old and heart failure is supposed to have been the cause of his death.

Mr. Stephenson was general manager for a large lumber company which has interests in northern Michigan and Louisiana. The deceased resided at Menominee, Mich.

NEW YORK MAIL TIED UP BY STRIKE OF CHAUFFEURS

New York, Oct. 28.—Most of the 125 motor trucks of the Postal Transport company tied up for nearly four hours last night and early today by a strike of chauffeurs, were in operation this morning with strike-breakers on the seats and the confusion of mail matter acute for a time, was being rapidly cleared up. Secret service men and police accompanied the strike-breakers.

QUARTERLY DIVIDEND OF STEEL CORPORATION MADE

ROBBERS MAKE HAUL AT NORTHERN BANK

Cracksmen Escape After Taking $2,200 From Dallas Bank, Barron County.

Dallas, Wis., Oct. 28.—The bank of Dallas, twelve miles south of Barron, Wis., was robbed early this morning of $2,200. The cracksmen made their escape on a hand car, which they stole at Hillsdale. Three men did the work, two blowing the safe while another watched. The explosion was heard by two Dallas citizens who started to investigate and were held up by the robber standing guard outside the bank. They were forced to stand with their hands in the air while the bank was rifled.

Telephone and telegraph wires were cut so that no communication in regard to the robbery was possible for over an hour after the escape of the cracksmen.

TROOPS NO LONGER NEEDED AT CALUMET

Copper Miners Strike Situation is Now Well Under Control of Sheriff.

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 28.—The copper miners strike situation in the southern part of Houghton county is now so completely in the control of Sheriff Cruise and his large force of deputies that it was said that the troops in that part of the district probably will be sent home next week. Mounted militia will be retained in the Calumet and Gwennaw districts. It is estimated that 1,200 non-union workmen have been brought into the district to take the place of the strikers.

A striker was arrested at the Wolverine mine for alleged illegal picketing.

NANCY LEISHMAN IS WEDDED AT GENEVA

Duke of Croy and American Girl Married With Roman Catholic Rites.

Geneva, Switzerland, Oct. 28.—The Duke of Croy and Miss Nancy Leishman were married today according to the rites of the Catholic church by Abbe Blancard at St. Joseph's church here. The church was crowded and several thousand of the inhabitants of Geneva assembled outside and cheered the bride and groom as they entered and as they left. A wedding breakfast afterwards was given at the hotel, the Duke and Duchess of Croy being seated under a canopy of white light snow. The bride wore a dress of white velvet. The duke and duchess later departed in an automobile to spend their honeymoon in Spain.

CROSS EXAMINATION IS RESUMED TODAY

Mrs. Eaton Contradicts Portions of Daughter's Testimony in Murder Trial.

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 28.—Mrs. Jenny May Eaton returned to the witness stand this morning for another day of cross examination of her testimony. The illness and death of the admiral were described by Mrs. Eaton, who contradicted portions of the testimony of her daughter, Dorothy. District Attorney Barker tried to impeach Mrs. Eaton by making her remember having ordered Dorothy to retire early on two nights before Admiral Eaton died. Mrs. Eaton finally said she might have done so, "but I don't admit it," she added.

MAYOR THE SUPERIOR OF CHIEF OF POLICE

Judge Higby Upholds Mayor of La Crosse in Decision Rendered in Case of John B. Weber.

La Crosse, Oct. 28.—Judge Higby in circuit court today held that the mayor is the head of the police department and the chief of police is required to carry out his orders. The decision was rendered in the case of John B. Weber, chief of police, against Mayor Orl J. Sorenson. Sorenson had ordered a number of transfers which Weber refused to obey on the ground that the mayor had no authority over the police. The mayor or then led charges against Chief Weber before the fire and police commission charging him with insubordination.

Chief Weber obtained an injunction against the commission forbidding it to go ahead with the investigation. Judge Higby ordered the injunction dissolved today and declared that the mayor had supreme authority over the police department and that the courts cannot interfere. It is expected that a hearing before the fire and police commission will now go on.

KANSAS AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE HAS JUBILEE

Manhattan, Kas., Oct. 28.—Manhattan is a mass of gay colors and is ready for the great event in her history today. It was inaugurated the golden jubilee celebration of the Kansas Agricultural College. The celebration will last three days and will be attended by many celebrities, including Governor Hodges and the leading educators of the state. Today was designated as "College Day" and was devoted to a review of the history of the college and the results it has accomplished during the fifty years of its existence.

ROCK ISLAND TELEGRAPHERS NOT TO GO ON A STRIKE

Chicago, Oct. 28.—There will be no strike of the 1,500 telegraphers of the Rock Island system. Points at issue were adjusted today after two weeks of conferences conducted through Wallace W. Hanger, an assistant commissioner of mediation and conciliation.

TURKISH CONDITIONS FAVOR CHRISTIANITY

One Million Dollars Needed to Christianize Nation Says Speaker at Kansas City Convention.

Kansas City, Oct. 28.—A Christian Turkey for one million American dollars; that was the substance of an address by Dr. Charles C. Tracy, president of the Anatolia College, Turkey, before the American board of Christian missions here today. Tracy, in connection with the national council of Congregational churches.

Reviews Conditions. Dr. Tracy reviewed the conditions in Turkey during the last few years and predicted with the proper support the American missionaries now there could bring the nation to Christianity.

Lyman M. Peet, of Foo Chow College, China, the anti-union movement was the basis of the present social transformation in China.

The canal of Governor Lin, a graduate of our American college, which swallowed up 20,000 chests, or nine million dollars worth of drug, will ever stand in China's history in the same place as the Boston tea party stands in New England's history.

Elect Dr. Eaton. The old religious have lost their hold on the people of China. Never again will the makers of income and idol papers play the trade they formerly did. In Foo Chow, just outside the last gate of the city, during the few days immediately following the revolution thousands of idols were thrown from the places and trampled under foot or burned with fire. A new religion is springing up in China and American missionaries are helping to build it.

The following officers were elected: President, Samuel B. Chapin, Boston; vice president, Edward D. Eaton, Belmont, Wis.; recording secretary, Henry A. Stimson, New York.

OFFERS TO EXPOSE TAMMANY BOSS RULE

Senator Who Served Term for Bribery Will Aid Sulzer in Fight on Murphy.

New York, Oct. 28.—Stephen J. Stillwell, former state senator from New York city, convicted of bribery charges, now serving a sentence, appealed last August to William Sulzer, governor, for a pardon and offered to return to the state to expose the workings of "boss rule" in New York city.

Representatives in the legislature are placed between the alternative of political destruction by failure to obey the law or the violation of their obligation to the people.

Stillwell's offer to tell what he knew long rumored, but never before definitely established, is contained in a letter made public by Sulzer today. The letter is in the thick of a fight against Tammany, a campaign for election to the assembly.

METHODIST LAYMEN HOLD A CONVENTION

Three Thousand Delegates Present at Great Meeting Opened in Indianapolis Today.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 28.—Three thousand delegates representing the clergy and lay members of the Methodist church in the United States and in many other countries crowded into the National Convention of the Methodist Laymen, the first of its kind ever held. The convention will continue until Friday and, according to the program, there will be three sessions daily. The attendance is thoroughly representative and includes the general officers of the church, including bishops, secretaries, educators and district superintendents; one thousand pastors and fifteen hundred laymen, including officers and leaders in local churches.

The convention is held under the call of the laymen's missionary movement of the Methodist Episcopal church, with the cooperation of finance and other official bodies of the church in active and hearty co-operation. All the missionary and benevolent boards of the church are united in the convention to which the problem of its missionary task will be presented in all its phases. Men of national and international reputation, representing every phase of church life will be heard, not only from the Methodist church, but from some of the strongest lay and clerical representatives of other Christian bodies will give their assistance.

The day sessions will be largely devoted to conferences of a practical character in the furtherance of the purpose for which the convention was called. This purpose is: To increase missionary intelligence and to deepen spiritual life; to present the definite responsibility of Methodism both at home and abroad in relation to other denominations and Christian agencies; to adopt a practicable denominational program and policy of advance; to place more definitely before the church the new financial plan adopted by the general conference for the church as a whole and for the local church; to emphasize the principle of laymen's participation in the church; to practice of Christian stewardship as adopted by the general conference, and to discover and enlist more men for missionary and evangelistic service.

CONNECTICUT MOTOR CAR CONCERN IS EANKRUPT

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 28.—Announcement was made here today that the Pope Manufacturing company had been placed in the hands of a receiver. The company made motor vehicles of various descriptions. The corporation's troubles were primarily due to a lack of working capital. It was reported that the company had some $1,500,000 of notes outstanding, some of which fall due in the next few months. It has not been able to meet the competition of other motor manufacturers.

The Quick and the Dead

It was an old fashioned habit of readers to turn first of all to the death notices on picking up a newspaper.

Nowadays, people turn more often to the advertisements of live merchants.

They are interested in the quick, and the quickest men in town are the merchants who advertise.

They are the business progressives, men with a message to deliver.

They back up words with deeds. They make good.

It is a safe axiom that it is always safest to trade with the man who advertises.

LOW EXPRESS RATES ASSURED FOR STATE

Secure Continuation in Wells-Fargo Case in Order to Arrange a Modified Schedule at Once.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 28.—Lower express rates now assured in Wisconsin, following a conference with officials of the Wells-Fargo company yesterday afternoon with the attorney general's office and members of the railroad commission. Late last evening the officials appeared in Judge Stevens' court and asked a continuation of the case until Dec. 1, to permit some modification in the schedules, so that the lower schedules may be put into effect. Judge Stevens granted the request.

Will Modify Order. Under the arrangement agreed at the conference the railroad commission will modify its reduction order so that its schedules will agree with those recently promulgated by the interstate commerce commission. In many instances the rates will be considerably lower than those announced in the original order of the state commission. The interstate commerce commission fixes rates according to zones. The western zone, from Chicago, the first zone of rates, which were particularly low, because of the short distance took in the northeastern corner of the state, but not including Milwaukee. This zone has been extended to the northern part of the state under the new plan made before Judge Stevens and assures four-fifths of the state rates on the whole 25 per cent lower than those now in effect.

New Schedule. Under the new arrangement the railroad commission will issue a supplemental order making new and lower rates for practically every station in the state, affecting the six express companies operating in the state. This task will occupy two or three weeks. The new schedules are then to go in jointly with the reduction order of the interstate commerce commission. It is the intention to get the new rates into effect before the Christmas shipments are made.

Early last spring the commission ordered a cut in express rates. The express companies claimed that the rates were ruinous and took the matter to the courts. The case was set for trial Oct. 27, and a few days before Railroad Commissioner Halford Erickson filed an affidavit analyzing the rates in the state, contending that the rates were higher than those in Iowa, Illinois or Minnesota. Instead of letting the case come to trial the officials of the Wells-Fargo company asked for a conference and agreed to a reduction of rates with modifications.

Prominent Speakers to Address Bankers at Session Opening in Chicago Today.

TO DISCUSS INCOME TAX AND MONEY BILL

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Discussion of the income tax bill which will be operative Friday and the effect of the proposed currency legislation and the recently enacted tariff measure, was begun here today by bankers and hand dealers in the city. The session of the United States at the opening session of the second annual convention of the Investment Bankers' Association of America.

Among those who will address the bankers are James J. Hill, St. Paul; Frank A. Vanderlip, president of National City Bank of New York; Prof. William A. Scott of the University of Wisconsin; and George S. Baker, chairman of board of directors of the First National Bank of New York.

THINK DULUTH MAN MURDERED IN JUNE

Body of Lumberman Missing Four Months Found Torn To Shreds by Wolves.

Duluth, Oct. 28.—Torn to shreds by wolves the body of Louis Laine, timberman, formerly employed by the Orest Mining Company, believed to have been robbed of his life by a chance acquaintance last June, was brought to Duluth from Breda, late yesterday. An autopsy will be held today.

From the evidence available Laine undoubtedly was murdered. A rusty rifle has been found nearby with an exploded cartridge in the chamber. The bones of the body were scattered for several yards by the wolves.

Laine was in Duluth June 25. He was last seen by a Brimson farmer. With a stranger he came to the farmhouse. The next morning the stranger declared his intention of boarding a train and leaving Duluth. He placed him the way. The stranger disappeared.

BOYS NOW SMOKE IN PEACE USE NEW ASBESTOS POCKETS

Duluth, Oct. 28.—Central high school students affected by a recent drastic smoke ordinance adopted by the board of education are happy and the former fear and stealth characteristic of their actions since the new law was put into effect are rapidly disappearing. A recent article in a magazine telling of the invention of an asbestos pocket which held cigarettes and cigars may be placed without danger accounts for their change of attitude it is said.

According to the new invention a pocket in vest or coat is converted into one of the fire proof variety. It is further claimed that a "butts" will hold fire for several hours when placed in the new pocket.

WILL CONSIDER EFFECT OF TARIFF ON GOAT

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 28.—Discussions as to how the tariff will affect the goat raising industry were the feature of the first day's session of the National Mohair Growers' Association, which met here this morning.

Members of the National Angora Goat Breeders' Association were present and were given every privilege extended to members of the Mohair Growers' Association. The goat raisers took an active part in the discussions.

North Platte, Neb., Oct. 28.—Marion Fitch of Kirksville, Mo., drew No. 1 in the drawing for government land in the North Platte and Nibran reservation.

BAKER SALOON LAW IS DECLARED VALID

STATE SUPREME COURT GIVES IMPORTANT DECISION TODAY UPHOLDING LIQUOR ACT.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 28.—The Wisconsin supreme court, in upholding the Baker saloon license law today, dealt a death blow to about 1,000 saloons throughout Wisconsin, most of them in Milwaukee, whose licenses, it is declared, are void. They were issued in excess of the ratio of one to 250 people by the law, which also says that a license must stay in a fixed place and may not be transferred to a new location.

Legality of Baker Law. The constitutionality of the Baker law, limiting saloon licenses to one in every 250 inhabitants and prohibiting transfers from one location to another when in excess of the above ratio, was sought to be determined by this appeal from Milwaukee.

Former Mayor Rose, who whose license was in dispute challenged the law on the ground that it denies equal protection of the laws, that it creates a monopoly in favor of 2,224 saloons in Milwaukee, that it allows the exaction of extortionate rents, that it is class legislation, that it destroys the right of home rule in that it deals to the people of the city the right where saloons shall be located, that it takes property without compensation, and that it confines saloons to the identical places they occupied June 30, 1907, and thereafter for all time they may not be changed.

Position of State. "Why should the member of the legislature from West Superior, have a voice in that law, as here in Milwaukee where we shall lose our saloons," Rose argued. "It is only in home rule that the theory of a representative form of government may be carried out."

Assistant Attorney General Messerschmidt, for the state, took the position that the legislature has great powers to control the liquor traffic and may destroy it altogether. To the argument that the Baker law unlawfully discriminates in favor of persons and property, he replied that the business called for distinct legislation and that no rules of classification were made in the law. He said it applies equally to each member in the class.

It is difficult to see how the cities have been deprived of any municipal power, the provision of the Baker law," he said. "The rights of home rule are not violated."

Yockey Files Brief. District Attorney Yockey filed a brief containing similar arguments in support of the law, calling it a whole, some one, logical and efficient in its effect, and clearly valid.

Russell Jackson, counsel for the Schlitz Brewing Co., filed a brief as amicus curiae in support of the law. He made light of the opposition's arguments on home rule.

"Experience has fully justified the passage of the act," he said. "Its purpose is beneficent—a step in the right direction. It will entail individual hardships it will entail more than compensated for by the good that will result."

REQUIRE TOWNSHIPS TO PROVIDE SIGNS

Matter Will Probably be Taken Up at November Meeting of County Board.

According to the provisions of Chapter 402, laws of 1913, the towns of the state are required to erect suitable guide signs showing the proper turns to make connecting with through highways. These signs will have to be of a certain size and mileage in each direction showing the nearest city and the next important city.

The touring bureau of a large automobile manufacturing company has taken up this matter and has prepared an offer which is considered to be to the advantage of the town authorities. The company offers to provide a quantity of the signs made up with the proper specifications if the township will provide the cedar posts and pay for the labor of erecting the same.

The matter has been brought to the attention of Highway Commissioner Moore and the county board. The company will be read at the November meeting of the county board of supervisors.

PRAISE FOR WISCONSIN FROM IDA M. TARBELL

Madison, Wis., Oct. 28.—Senator La Follette's vote for the tariff measure was praised by Miss Ida M. Tarbell in an interview here today. She is the author of a book on "The Tariff in Our Own Times," which traces the tariff history from the close of the civil war.

"Wisconsin is one of the most enlightened states," said Miss Tarbell. "and I have great respect for the many ways in which the university has been an impetus to the progressive work of the state, especially through its extension department."

I highly approve of President Wilson's action in passing the tariff measure and I think it will be a step toward downward revision. Mr. Wilson is, I think, one of the most estimable men who has ever occupied the presidential chair."

PROMISE NEW CARS FOR LOCAL STREET RAILWAY IN SPRING

Committee of Twenty-five Thousand Club Receives Assurance From Manager Sparks.

Assurance that new "pay as you enter" cars would be placed in service on the lines of the Janesville Street Railway Company next spring was given the special committee of the Twenty-five Thousand Club which yesterday afternoon called upon General Manager William Sparks of the Rockford & Interurban Railway Company at the company's offices in Rockford. The cars will be of a special type making it possible for them to be operated by one man. The only difficulty that would be experienced in operating cars of this kind would be at the Academy street railway crossing, but Manager Sparks expects to make arrangements whereby street cars will be flagged at the approach of a train.

Manager Sparks stated that while the Milwaukee street bridge was in course of construction it would be impossible for any material improvement to be made in the service. Neither would it be possible for street cars to use the abandoned loop, as there were still pending unsettled damage suits against the company by those who owned property on the loop. When the new cars are put into use all the employees will be informed. With regard to the charges of discount on the part of some of the car men he stated that immediate attention would be given to the correction of this defect. As to further improvements in the system he could make no promises. Not less than $25,000 was spent for them last year, most of it going toward the replacement of old track.

In regard to cars making the last run at 9:30 Manager Sparks admitted that a later service should be offered, but said that at one time that was tried out and was not a paying proposition. When the committee informed him that it had not been generally advertised and that now we had five theatres to draw from instead of one, he promised to investigate the proposition and spoke very favorably regarding it.

Manager Myers of the Myers Theatre said this morning that he would be glad to advertise the late service on the screens. No doubt all the theatres in the city would be glad to do the same and the committee are going to call upon the various managers.

The committee who called upon Manager Sparks consisted of Walter S. Rice, J. W. Van Buren, J. S. Jacobs, and E. S. Peterson. E. S. Peterson had been appointed a member of the committee but was unable to go to Rockford. All spoke very highly of the courteous reception given them and the kindly spirit in which the complaints and suggestions for improvements were received.

LOCAL TEACHERS TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Large Delegation Plans to be Present at Milwaukee, on November 6th, 7th and 8th.

Every teacher in the graded schools, and all of the instructors of the high school, together with many of the rural teachers of country schools in this vicinity, are making definite plans to attend the sixty-first annual meeting of the Wisconsin Teachers' Association, to be held in Milwaukee on November 6th, 7th and 8th. The local delegation will exceed that of former years by a large margin, and will be the largest from all over the state. From 1,000 to 1,500 teachers throughout the state will undoubtedly be on hand at the first meeting.

An unusual good program has been arranged. Principal J. C. Buell of the local school will give a talk on Nov. 6th at two o'clock in the afternoon on "The Training of Elementary School Teachers" for securing effective work of school and public libraries on the part of their pupils.

Again on Friday afternoon at two o'clock he will give a talk on "The Administrator's Viewpoint."

Miss Caroline F. Zehner of the high school faculty will read a paper at the modern language conference.

WHAT JANESVILLE LADY LOST A HAT?

Whys and Wherefores Might Prove Interesting Story for Local Readers.

What Janesville lady lost her hat on a recent visit to Chicago? Do not all speak at once. According to E. Pasacker, who writes he lives at the Windsor Clifton hotel, Chicago, he has the above mentioned hat and the same can be obtained from him upon application. He does not want the hat come to his possession, who lost it or under what circumstances, but tells the whole with an air of mystery. If you know of a Janesville lady who has returned from the great metropolis without her "sky-piece," here is the opportunity to do the Samaritan act by telling her where it is and perhaps securing a bit of gossip that will make you the envious of the envious. There may be a scandal connected with it and it may be a pleasant thing left in a cab or some other place.

LINK AND PIN

Chicago & Northwestern Ry. Judges and Justices of the peace, and secretary of the Wisconsin Machinists on the Northwestern Road will be present at the dance Friday evening. His home is in Jurebo, and he has notified his intention of coming to local machinists. He will be accompanied by Mr. Axen, master mechanic on the Northwestern system.

Four switch engines are now working daily in the yards and in the city. The sudden increase in traffic has forced the road to place an extra engine in the city yards.

Fireman C. Yates went out on 534 this morning.

Fireman Siebert is laying off.

Machinist Joe Smith, and chairman of the dance committee, is laying off, preparing for the Friday night party.

Engineer Shekey and Fireman Walters are on the "Sunset" Limited for a time.

Engineer C. Manning has been laying off for the past two weeks. He is at present visiting his son, in Marinette, Wis.

Engine 1081, which has been in the shop for the past three days, undergoing slight repairs, is now ready for its regular run on 513.

GOOD PROGRAMS AT SOCIETY MEETINGS

Forum and Rusk Lyceum Literary Clubs Present Able Topics at Regular Sessions.

Members of the Forum and Rusk literary societies displayed their gifts of oratory last evening at their regular meetings in their respective high school rooms. The debate given by the Forum was presented exceptionally well. It was a debate which was well looked up by the contestants. The debate presented by the Rusk, was an extempore debate, and although a hard one to gather information on, was well given. The programs are as follows:

Forum.
Roll Call, answered by "The Most 'Sorrowful Moment of My Life'." "Explosive Golf Balls." "Lyle Beaulieu." "Emeline Pankhurst's Experiences." "How I Spent My Summer Vacation." "Our Second Trip to Beloit!"
Rusk Lyceum.
Roll Call, answered by an original poem.
Extempore Debate—Resolved, that the intellect of man is far superior to that of woman. Kavelage for the negative won a 2 to 1 decision over Smiley on the affirmative.

The others members of the Lyceum who were scheduled to speak were absent, and a postponement of the remainder of the program was necessary.

Both societies are being built up "to counteract the slump which they had last winter. This is especially noticeable in the Forum, as the Rusk were more successful in their work last year. Prof. Guy W. Curtis, critic of the Lyceum, is an able man in the position, and the success of the society since his inauguration as critic, has been a leading factor in making parliamentary law and order prevalent among the members.

Prof. Shaefer, who has been selected to put the Forum on top this year, has accomplished what was never accomplished before. Taking up the work with a society as large as the Forum was last year, and placing it above the average society, has been Mr. Shaefer's work with members. Order in this year's meetings has at all times been experienced, and at present the two societies are fighting for high honors in the line of literary work, both in debating and other forensic practice.

POLICE PREPARE TO MEET EMERGENCIES

Extra Officers On Duty Friday Evening To Prevent Any Disorders.

"Halloween in Janesville will be sane if we can make it so," said Chief of Police Ransom this afternoon. We have many plans for the curing of the malicious youths who seem to think that the event should be celebrated by insane customs of a troublesome nature and all without cause or reason," continued the chief.

Realization comes on the day of this week and Janesville people are making preparations to celebrate the hours of magic and spirits. In the past the police have experienced no little trouble in handling unruly youths who persist in leading up to walks, knocking down outbuildings, and see how many wagons, buggies and rates they can misplace for the owners to hunt for the next morning. The police department have enlisted twenty men for the night including the nine regular policemen. Every ward will be patrolled by an automobile, with the motorcycle and patrol in reserve. Special warning is given against the moving of the aprons over crosswalks, a serious accident is liable to result.

On further speaking of the matter Chief Ransom said, "There will be no objection made for the citizens to regard Halloween as a time to play harmless jokes, but offenders who take more liberties will find severe punishment the result. We have secured good protection for the city and at least two men will be stationed with an automobile in each ward, and offenders caught will find that they will not be released as easy as those in the past."

ALL HALLOWE'EN IS ON FRIDAY EVENING

Mystic Night When Witches Appear and Fortunes Are Told. What does Halloween mean to you?

The fall festival night is on its way, and will be celebrated in a more or less perfunctory manner by thousands of people in and throughout the United States the last evening of this month.

From the way novelties are being shown in the Janesville shops a spectator would judge that Halloween has as many different meanings as there are different people.

You can visit the department of one store and find many paper decorative novelties, such as garlands and paper foliage. Confectionary shops are showing imitation pumpkins filled with white and spook-looking taffies and decorations. Stationery stores are showing equally spooky place cards.

But, as the oldest festival occasion celebrated in this country, Halloween appears to have a very hazy significance to most observers.

How It Began.
The holiday began its career long before the Christian era, when the worshippers of the sun God saw fit to burn a few human victims offerings. This was a definite custom of the Druids, who felt that, of all nights in the year, that on which the witch and hobgoblins were most likely to be abroad was the most favorable for their kind.

So they built their fires and thanked the sun God that no evil spirits had taken possession of them during the past 12 months.

Later, few hundred years after the festival became one of thanksgiving and witches being scarce at the time, the celebrants looked around for something to be thankful for and decided to give the harvest. For a time Halloween was an international thanksgiving day.

Unlike other holidays, Halloween has no formal list of a governor or president to make it legal. It did have such a legal standing under the Druids, who invoked Saman, the lord of death, to call together the wicked souls in animals and punish them.

Joke on the Romans.
The Romans, too, soon after the conquest of England, adopted the feast of Saman and made October 31 a legal holiday for the worship of Pomona, goddess of apples and nuts. This was where the apple and nut idea came from, and the old folks back on the farm, had its origin. Of course, no stiff-necked pagan Roman ever ducked for apples, but the small boys of Merry England took the idea as a sort of joke in the Roman holiday.

Small boys with inclinations to imitate the humor of their forebears have had a good deal to do with the Halloween customs until very recently.

The Catholics, however, gave the night its name of All Hallow eve or Hallowmass, and the occasion still is observed as the Vigil of Hallowmass, or All Saints day. Some places it is made the time for decorating graves.

Spookiness Still Clings.
Although Halloween has long since ceased to be a celebration of any definite idea, and the "spookiness" clings to it even in the festive celebrations about the modern dinner tables.

To be sure, the night in certain sections of the country is still even now as the Oldhane of Shamhira, or the Vigil of Saman. In equal excluded parts of Scotland and Wales it is made into something of a serious fest to which bonfires are built and nebbies laid in the embers. Should one of the nebbies be found out of place the next morning, it is a sure sign that the person who laid it there will die during the ensuing year.

In the north of England it is the night to celebrate the bounty of the harvest and the common name applied is Nutcracker night.

Among the superstitions of the peoples of that of Europe, the saying is that if two children of opposite sexes are born in the same village on Halloween they will be partners for life. In this manner has the evolution of Halloween worked out. While the other holidays and festivals have very definite meanings, such as New Years, Christmas, Thanksgiving and the Fourth of July, Halloween may have about as much meaning as a person's belief toward a night frolic may desire to ascribe to it. There is but one essential which has clung to it throughout its existence, and that is that whatever is done must be connected toward a night frolic may desire to ascribe to it. There is but one essential which has clung to it throughout its existence, and that is that whatever is done must be connected toward a night frolic may desire to ascribe to it.

Small boys who considered that it meant to hang a neighbor's gate high in the trees on the only way to get a brougham astraddle the gable roof have had their crude notions suppressed by the police and stern parents.

ACCIDENTS DELAYING BUILDING OF BRIDGE

Pile-driver Boom Broken and Crown Sheet of One of Boilers Blown Out—Repairs Hastened.

Two accidents to the machinery used by the Gould Construction company in the construction of the new Milwaukee street bridge took place last night and greatly inconvenienced the workers besides causing a delay which although not long, is serious at this time of the year. Because of a pin working loose from the "dog" of the big derrick employed in building the center pier, the pile driving boom broke from its fastenings and was cracked in several places. It will have to be replaced. Early in the evening the crown sheet in the boiler which has been operating the "jetter" steam pump blew out. To replace it will be necessary to remove the steam dome. As the replacement will probably take two or three days' time the pump has been connected with the boiler of the derrick on the east bank. This will make it possible to proceed with the driving of piles for the center pier. Foreman Shore and his men worked until four o'clock this morning in making repairs.

Care is being exercised in excavating for the east abutment of the bridge. The foundation of the Putnam building between the alley and the river from being undermined. The form for the second arch has been carried almost as far as is possible before the completion of the center pier.

Interest in the fight game in Gotham is waning. The fight fans there are becoming weary of the pitiful performances that have been staged the last year or two and the burlesques put on by the heavyweights are mainly responsible. Immediately after the Johnson-Jeffries fight the country was flooded with eager white hopes and at first they were given a warm welcome. Muscular bartenders and well developed ice men all strove to win their way towards the heavyweight title and their bouts were brutal but otherwise uninteresting. New York began to get a surfeit of this sort of thing. They tired of seeing large, coarse persons, with no boxing skill at all, hammer one another on the thorax in the belief that they were putting up a fight. New York has always been a great town for the fight game, but the overgrown plug-uglies in the ring there have taken the edge off the fight appetite of Father Knickerbocker. The result is that something real in the way of a scrap will have to occur in Gotham before the old crowds can be dragged around to the arena. Attendances at boxing matches have fallen off considerably of late. It is thought that the approaching Ritchie-Cross scrap will awaken some of the old interest and it should, because it bids fair to be a warm little argument. However, so many battles have been fought heavily just previous to their enactment and so many of them have proven frosts that the average New Yorker is dubious.

Both Yale and Princeton are chuckling heartily this fall, for Felton is no longer at Harvard. Last season Felton looked about as pleasant to Yale and Princeton as Collins or Baker did to the Giants

Y. M. C. A. GETS NEW PHYSICAL DIRECTOR

Frank M. Yordy of Freeport, a Beloit College Man, Will Take Charge of Gymnasium Work.

Frank M. Yordy of Freeport, Ill., has been named by the Y. M. C. A. as the new physical director of the association for the coming year. Yordy is a Beloit college man and comes well recommended for his position. In an examination for playground directors held at Chicago this summer out of a class of forty-seven he was awarded fourth place. After his arrival plans will be made regarding the schedule of indoor sports for the members.

No certain date has been made for the opening of the Y. M. C. A. after the extensive remodeling that has been given the building during the summer months. The contract for the bowling alley and pool room equipment has been closed and the gymnasium apparatus and new steel lockers have delayed the work for the last two weeks.

The two floors of dormitories have been completed and next week they will be furnished and will be ready for occupancy by the last of the week. The tilting for the swimming pool has been laid and is ready for the filters, guard rail and spring boards. Secretary J. C. Kline has promised that the pool will be in use inside of three weeks.

Willie Ritchie is taking up golf. Ritchie, in New York with his manager, beats it out to the Van Courtland golf links every morning and hammers away at the solid rubber pellets. Ritchie took it out at one time or another that he plans to make all the change he can out of the fight game and it isn't unlikely that he regards golfing as an essential to his game with a pile of rocks. He has been termed the John D. of the fight game, and when he retires from the ring he will be able to give out interviews while golfing on his private links in true Oil King fashion. Ritchie says that golfing is mighty good for the eyes and that it strengthens the muscles of the legs and arms. Manager Foley is carrying his sticks for him.

COUNTY CAN'T LEGALLY ORDER UNION PRINTING

Madison, Wis., Oct. 28.—A county board has no legal right to pass a resolution directing all county printing to bear the union label. This is the effect of an opinion rendered by Attorney General Owen to D. S. Law, district attorney of La Crosse county. Mr. Law said that the La Crosse county board considered a resolution at its last meeting providing that all county printing, job or otherwise, should bear the union label.

"The courts that have passed upon the question of one similar to it, have, without exception, come to the conclusion that such a resolution may not be passed by a municipality," says the opinion. Several leading cases are then cited to substantiate that view.

"Under the authorities I am constrained to hold that no county board has the right to pass the resolution," concludes the opinion, "as it is an unlawful restriction and in conflict with the statutory requirements that the proceedings of the county board be printed by the lowest bidder."

BUICK SIX DEMONSTRATION

We will have a Buick Six here Thursday, weather permitting, and we will be glad to have you phone for a demonstration.

2500 Miles—Over 17 Miles to the Gallon
What OTHER Six Will Do It?

Do you know a Six that can equal this record? A Buick Six on a trip from Flint, Michigan, to New York City and return—covering about 2500 miles—averaged over 17 miles to the gallon. You hear people say that Sixes make only from seven to ten miles per gallon. Some do. Then 17 miles to the gallon isn't bad, is it? You can afford to drive a Six on that basis. All of this goes to show that you can't judge a Buick Six by what you know of other Sixes—or a Buick Four by other Fours.

You need a Buick demonstration to round out your motor education. Get it—call up today.

Come in and see the 1914 Models priced at from $950 to $1985—Each one ready to give you that Buick sure service.

Every 1914 Buick has the DELCO Self-Starting, Lighting and Ignition, Left Drive, Center Control.

INTENSIFIED FARMING.

The trend of the times is towards efficiency, in every line of work, and while the industrial and commercial world has been in the benefits resulting from it, it is gratifying to know that the field of agriculture is not being neglected.

The watchword today on the farm is efficiency. The man who has tilled the same soil for a quarter of a century or more, has come to realize that he has been an inefficient husbandman, not because he has failed to work from sun to sun, year in and year out, but because he lacked the knowledge of how to win from the soil, the rewards to which he was entitled.

It remained for the schools to sow the seed, and implant in the minds of the boys of the new generation, ambition to increase production, and so all through the great agricultural west, the boys are being taught how to analyze soil and seed fertilizers, and climatic conditions, and from the boy the father has caught the progressive spirit of the age. As a result farming has become a science.

The corn contest, which the Gazette has been conducting this season, will prove a revelation when the outcome is published, which will be in a few days.

The boys have demonstrated that Rock county land is capable of producing more than double the amount of corn per acre than it has been producing. In other words, twenty acres of corn intelligently planted and cultivated, will produce as much as forty acres has heretofore produced.

That's intensified farming, and it's the kind of knowledge that adds to the value of the farm and puts money in the farmer's pocket. More than that, it's the sort of knowledge that makes farm life attractive, and keeps the boy from becoming a cheap clerk and ruining his destiny.

The state has provided a fund of ten thousand dollars to be distributed to the counties next year, to aid in hiring agricultural instructors, whose business it will be to spend their time among the farmers, adding them in every possible way to increase production.

To secure this aid the county is to pay a like amount. An effort is being made to secure this kind of work for Rock county, and the matter will be considered by the Board of Supervisors at the November meeting.

The bankers of the county, realizing the importance of the work, are planning to render material aid. They argue that the banner county in the state should have at least three thousand dollars to spend for this kind of development. If the county board takes favorable action, as it doubtless will, there will be no lack of money to prosecute a vigorous campaign. Let the good work go on. It is along right lines, and is bound to accomplish good results.

AN OBJECT LESSON.

Despite the separation politically of Canada and the United States there is no doubt that their interests are common to a very large degree if not economically. According to the Christian Science Monitor we have an object lesson of a striking character illustrative of this fact in the present international beef situation. With a duty on beef, the United States and Canada up to the enactment of the new tariff law on this side were on equal terms. The removal of the duty disturbed this balance. Many in Canada hoped, and many in the United States feared, that this disturbance would result in the importation by the United States of Canadian cattle in large numbers. Both hope and fear have been realized, but the matter has not worked out at all as was expected. The exportation of cattle from Canada, that is, instead of being a benefit to the people of that nation, is contributing greatly to the high cost of living across the line, while in the United States the effect of Canadian beef importations upon the market has scarcely been felt.

Within a few days following the enactment of the tariff law this newspaper contained a dispatch from Washington, summarizing a report from United States Consul Harvey at Port Erie, Ontario, in which it was stated that thousands of head of cattle were being exported to the United States from Canada. The consular statement went on to say: "They are young and thin, the majority being valued at from $14 to $20 each. Farmers in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana will feed them until they are fit for beef." These young cattle are known to the trade as "feeders." Among several dispatches corroborating the general fact set forth here, was another from Washington within the last few days recounting the receipt of intelligence from the Dominion to the effect that Canada would probably be compelled to remove her own import duty on cattle in order to compensate for the American drain on her "feeders." In other words the tariff had so affected the situation that Canada would probably open her doors to American cattle, that the economic balance might be restored.

It has been rather a difficult matter recently to touch upon the subject of reciprocity, pro or con, without affecting somebody's sensibilities. It is not necessary to go back to a discussion of this delicate subject here. But the plain, unvarnished facts in the present international beef situation cannot be prevented from telling their story or pointing a moral.

STATE TAX LEVY.

The first dose of a reform administration comes to the people in the shape of a seven million dollar tax levy, and the only surprising thing about it, is that we get off so cheap. The state has been running at high pressure, and the inevitable has happened.

Wisconsin prided herself for many years on being able to run without a tax levy, as the railroads and public service corporations contributed enough to pay all expenses. While this class of property is paying heavy today than ever before, our expenses have increased many fold, and somebody must pay the bills.

The secretary of state offers a very lucid explanation of how this extra money is to be spent and it is some satisfaction to know that our own legislators are responsible for extravagant outlay. The extra burden of taxation is placed upon us by the men we elected to serve us, and we have really no cause for complaint.

By the time we get through paying the bills it may occur to us that reform comes high and it is just possible that we may profit by the experience.

Huerta is still president of Mexico and the returns will show that he will continue to be president until driven out of the country. Meanwhile his good friend General Diaz, who helped him drive Madero to his death, has sought refuge on an American warship for safety.

President Wilson sounded a warning note in his address Monday which may be taken to mean that in the future he intends to be the real president and not merely the mouthpiece for his cabinet advisor.

When Mr. Packy McCabe referred to Sulzer's followers as "crack pots" did he mean that they always have openers, or merely that they had been to the "well" once too often?

An Iowa farmer lost $15,800 that he placed under his pillow. But any farmer who can go to sleep with that much money under his pillow probably won't miss it.

If the governor of New York can not make money by speculating in stocks, what chance has a man with fewer opportunities to get inside information?

A Philadelphia preacher complains that split skirts are keeping the men away from church. Is that a boost or a knock for the ladies of his congregation?

It is said that women will wear men's vests this fall. It may be the time will come when it will be possible to stop a woman and ask her for a match.

Many a June bride who had never lifted anything heavier than an embroidery needle is now swinging a shovel between the coal bin and the furnace.

New Hampshire should not be selfish and hold Harry Thaw too long. The lawyers of other states are entitled to some consideration.

Perhaps the delay in the Thaw case decision is merely for the purpose of giving us all something to look forward to.

ARRIVE IN UNITED STATES FOLLOWING MEXICO REBELLION

Mrs. Juanita Brittingham, Formerly Miss Roberta McLean of This City, Out of Dangerous Territory.

Word was received here today by Mrs. Alfred R. Talmadge, who resides at 318 South Locust street, that her niece, Mrs. Juanita Brittingham, formerly Miss Roberta McLean of this city, is safely out of Mexico now, and is on her way to Los Angeles, the home of her mother, Mrs. R. W. McLean. Two years ago Mrs. Brittingham and her mother left Chihuahua, Mexico, when the Madero rebellion began, and moved to Los Angeles. In the meantime her daughter, Roberta, was married and returned to Gomez, Mexico, with her husband. When the recent revolt of a few months ago broke out, Mr. and Mrs. Brittingham sought to make their escape. They attempted to go to Vera Cruz, and from there by vessel to Galveston. However, after reaching Torreon they lost their way, and were stranded in a desert for some time. It is learned that they left Torreon on November 1st, on their way to Vera Cruz. They were taken by federal soldiers to Vera Cruz, and from there escaped by boat to Galveston, Texas, where they were a few weeks ago. They are now on their way to Los Angeles, it is thought. No trace yet found of them, excepting the telegram received by Mrs. McLean in Los Angeles, stating that they had reached Galveston after a hard struggle. Friends in this city will be pleased to hear that Mr. and Mrs. Brittingham made their escape luckily without injuries. The letter stated that the majority of the people of this part of the country had little knowledge of the rebellion, as it really is, day after day.

EDGERTON MINSTER ELECTED PRESIDENT

The Rev. J. Linnevold Heads Young People's Societies of Norwegian Synod Lutheran Church.

The Rev. J. Linnevold of Edgerton was elected president of the Young People's societies in the Norwegian Synod Lutheran churches of the southern Wisconsin district at the convention just closed in this city. J. P. Hammann of this city was elected vice president; the Rev. T. O. Thorson of Janesville, secretary; and Miss Iren Eide of Lee, Ill., treasurer. The vice president and secretary were appointed a committee to prepare a program for the next annual convention which it was decided to hold in June, 1914, at Lee, Illinois. Edgerton also made an effort to obtain the convention. The Rev. J. C. K. Preus, Miss Salverson, and Miss Myrtle Olson, all of Beloit, were designated a committee to select music for the next annual concert.

FINDS BLACK PEARL IN OYSTER CLAM SHELL

G. A. Anders Makes Discovery While Opening a Dozen Oysters Purchased of a Local Dealer.

It is safe to say that in the future persons opening oysters or oyster purchased of local dealers will search carefully for pearls within the shells. G. A. Anders, who is the credit manager of the Parker Pen Company, purchased a dozen oysters in the shell at E. B. Connors and upon opening them at home discovered a perfectly formed black pearl within the shell. It was taken to a jeweler who could not place any definite price on it owing to the fact that they are very scarce and their value depends upon the shape and size. That found by Mr. Anders weighs two grains and is perfectly round with an extremely fine luster. He is having it set in a handsome ring.

A Very Foolish Burglar. We relate for your edification today the story of the foolish burglar. All burglars are not foolish. Some of them steal things that they can digest instead of securities that they cannot digest, which shows a keen perception and an analytical mind. The burglar is usually sensible enough to look in the wife's dressing table for the family purse instead of the husband's trousers' pocket, but in other ways he has demonstrated that his head is a dome of thought instead of a mere dwelling place for hair.

But a very foolish burglar has recently made his appearance. He must have been a fool, not fit to hold a card in the burglars' union, for this is what he did:

He passed up the few cases containing several of the family watches and diamonds and thought to himself: "I was a passionate fond of dried apples and cider and he found them both in the kitchen. He also discovered a jar of delicious doughnuts. When he had finished his meal he got ready to go back for the watches, but the dried apples and cider had got in their deadly work and he found that he could not get out of the kitchen. He tried all of the doors and windows, and while the householder, awakened by the noise, telephoned the deputy sheriff, the burglar was forced to stay in his trap. The deputy sheriff got him out and to jail by removing loose boards in the kitchen. A month with no more sense of the eternal fitness of things than this one displayed has got no business in the polite art of burglary. He will spend considerable time now justifying in a handsome stone and brick mansion at the expense of the state and his favorites, dried apples and cider, will not be in the bill of fare. He should have taken his rap out of doors and eaten it.

Signs of the Times. There seems to be as much artistic temperament among baseball stars as among those of grand opera, and it pays just as well, too. There are many men who possess by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion with the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by this method. Send for literature, free.

DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR, ITCHY SCALP, END THIS AT ONCE—25 CENT DANDERINE

Girls! Girls! Save your hair! Make it grow luxuriant, beautiful—a delightful dressing.

If you care for heavy hair, that glimmers with beauty and is radiant with life, has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, use a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. It eventually—why not now?

Doctors all wore silk hats and side whisks.

"The Silver Skull"

A Vitagraph

Billy Steele comes to the United States on his private yacht on business. On his way to the office of Henry Lawlor, a lumber magnate he sees a very beautiful girl. She looks tired and tormented as though in trouble, and Billy longs to comfort her, but he forces himself to turn away. Their business concluded, Lawlor and Steele leave the office and part at the street. Steele finds that he has left his wallet upon Lawlor's desk and returns to get it. He jumps back with astonishment when he finds a person crouching before the safe. He is greatly startled, and Billy jumps to his feet and seizes the person. He turns out to be the girl he saw on the street. She tells him with a revolver while she searches the safe and takes some papers. Billy jumps towards her and she seizes the revolver. He tries to return the papers. With tears in her eyes, and a quiver in her voice, she pleads to retain the papers. It is all Billy can do to refuse her, but he manages to subdue his feelings. Suddenly he sees something shiny on the floor and picks up a silver skull and cross bones. He hastens with the girl towards the door as Lawlor is heard returning. While Steele greets the magnate, the girl escapes. Lawlor hastens after her in a taxicab. He gets her name and address. The next day he reads in the paper that the person he tried to get, Lawlor's daughter, and while Steele hides behind a screen, chuckles over the pleadings of the girl and the father. Then O'Keefe, the captain of Billy's yacht, comes in holding the skull and cross bones. Lawlor turns white and stumbles backwards. O'Keefe accuses him of murder, telling a story of crime that took place many years ago, and the skull and cross bones had belonged to the dead man. Lawlor now pays for all his villainy, while Billy is made happy with Josephine's love.

This beautiful drama of the heart, entitled "The Mystery of the Silver Skull" will touch the feelings of all those who make it an object to go to the Lyric tonight, where it will repay them for their time and the short trip of reaching this convenient place of entertainment.

SUPREME COURT DECISION TODAY CONFIRMS JANESVILLE'S ATTITUDE ON MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

ACTION HERE AT ONCE

All Doubt Removed As to Status of Local Case and Final Hearing Before Commission Will Be Sought at Once.

Dispatches from Madison today announced that the supreme court had affirmed the decision in the lower court in the Racine water works case, upholding the position of the city of Racine and establishing the legality of the Wisconsin public utility law. The result is most interesting to Janesville residents as it makes possible the completion of negotiations between the Janesville Water company and the city which have been held up awaiting the outcome of this case.

The appeal in the Racine case was brought by David C. Janes, and the Racine Water company, against whom judgment in the lower court was entered, with the city of Racine and its officials as respondents.

"The commission will undoubtedly take action at once on the Janesville case," said Mayor James A. Fathiers this afternoon, "and there is every reason to suppose that the city will be operating the water company's plant at least by January 1st. I have talked the matter over with Mr. Roemer of the commission and he has assured me that they were ready to make a final settlement as soon as the decision of the court was announced."

Final Hearing at Once. "The effect of the decision removes any doubt about the status of the local case," said City Attorney W. H. Dougherty in a statement today following the receipt of the news of the court's action, "and it will be promptly moved for a final hearing before the commission."

"I don't know upon what reasoning the decision is based, but it certainly holds that the fund for payment need not be created before the entry of the final certificate of valuation. It probably holds that the voters at the election irrevocably bound the city to pay the sum to be fixed by the commission and leaves the method of payment to be fixed by the commission as well as the purchase price."

"So long as the supreme court finds a method of 'just compensation' to have been provided in the law, the utilities are bound by the provisions of the law which is now upheld as valid."

"I will have a copy of the opinion by tomorrow and the legal proceedings will be promptly started. It should take the commission but a short time to complete their findings in this case as most of the testimony is already before them. The elements making up the physical valuation are all before them and nothing remains but to arrive at such additional allowances as constitute a fair 'going value.'"

Question at Issue. Determination of the question whether the city of Racine may take over the property of the Racine Water Company was the matter for settlement by the supreme court in the Racine case. The city of Racine decided in favor of municipal ownership, but the question submitted read: "Shall the city of Racine acquire its own water works?" Nothing was said as to the place of the Racine Water Company. The company insisted the purchase under this election is invalid.

Several other issues were involved, all of which make the case one of large importance in public utility regulation by the state. Arguing against the right of the city to acquire the plant, the water company set forth that the city made no provision for issuing bonds to compensate the company, and that if the price were paid the city would exceed the limit of its bonded indebtedness. The railroad commission, after allowing for depreciation, valued the plant at $775,347, but the company has since expended a large sum for extensions and improvements.

Contentions of Parties. The water company contended that the city, having required the company to make large extensions and additions since the date of the purchase, has estopped itself from successfully arguing that by such vote it irrevocably bound itself to take and pay for the property.

The city claimed that the vote was legally taken and that the use of the water machines was valid and that not a single voter was misled by the form of the question, and noted the circuit judge's conclusion that it did not appear the constitutional limit of indebtedness would be exceeded if the plant were purchased.

This action was brought by Janes as a taxpayer to restrain the city from taking over the plant.

Lower Court for City. The lower court dismissed the plaintiff's complaint and the company's cross-complaint, and awarded costs to the city against the company. From this judgment Janes and the water company brought separate appeals. Both asked the supreme court to reverse the judgment of dismissal and a grant judgment restraining the city from further proceeding in the matter of the enforced valuation of the property.

NEW BUDGET TO BE LOWER THAN LAST

Mayor Fathiers States That it Will Call for Appropriations of About $157,000.

Although all appropriations in the new budget were not then final Mayor Fathiers authorized the statement early this afternoon that the total levy for municipal purposes for 1914 would be approximately $157,000, less than last year's levy by over two thousand dollars. No cuts have been made in the estimates submitted by the board of education, the fire department, the library board or the industrial school board, and in spite of the increases called for by all of these, it was possible to bring the amount of the total appropriation below that of last year. It was expected that final action on the budget would be taken at a council meeting late this afternoon.

STATE CALLS FIRST WITNESSES IN TRIAL ALLEGED MURDERER

Completed Drawing Jury Early This Morning After Which Court Visited Scene of Crime.

Taking of testimony in the case of the state versus Joseph Perruccio of Beloit, charged with the murder of Alessandro Poma in that city, was begun in the circuit court for Rock County at two o'clock this afternoon. The witnesses for the state, as is customary, being first called to the stand. It is believed that the trial will continue through the next two days as there are many witnesses to be examined on the part of both the state and the defense.

No jury to try the case of the State versus Joseph Perruccio could be drawn from the regular panel, summoned, and late yesterday afternoon Sheriff C. S. Whipple was directed to procure an extra panel of twenty-four men. Court convened at nine o'clock this morning and forty-five minutes later a jury had been secured. The jurors who will sit in judgment on Joseph Perruccio are: E. G. Gleason, William Taitman, Thomas Ford, John Eggea, Fred Viney, A. G. Spingren, and N. W. Crosley. Of these the first eight were on the regular panel. The remaining sixteen were obtained Judge George Grimm, the defendant's attorney, Thomas S. Nolan and C. L. Kene, and the jury took the oath and retired to the jury room. The premises where the murder of Polachi took place. They returned at noon.

Six divorce cases and two other civil actions were tried by Judge Grimm before the jury was summoned. Eli Howard was granted a divorce from Margaret Ann Howard, the ground being voluntary separation. Deserter was the ground on which divorce was ordered in the cases of Maudie Walton versus Ivan Walton, Emma Hardman versus Patrick Hardman, and John Merklein versus Elizabeth Merklein. Mrs. Walton was permitted to resume her maiden name of Maudie Powers. Mrs. Hardman was awarded the custody of the minor children. Elma C. Stolz was given a divorce from Ernest C. Stolz on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment. She was permitted to take the name which she had by her first marriage, Clara K. Vincent received a divorce from Ethel Vincent on the grounds of desertion. In no case did the defendants put in an appearance. John Merklein was represented by an attorney, but he entered no answer and made no defense.

Foreclosure judgments and sales were ordered in the cases of Harry Keating versus O. G. Buttrick and H. M. Keating versus O. G. Buttrick. Judgment of partition and sale was ordered in the case of E. G. Cadman versus R. S. Nelson.

ENGINEERS MAKING INSPECTION TOUR OF THE PROPOSED ROUTE

Chicago and Wisconsin Valley Railway Insist They Mean to Build Line to Madison.

Within the past few days renewed activity on the part of the promoters of the proposed interurban between Janesville and Madison, by the Chicago and Wisconsin Valley Street Railway company, has been demonstrated. Last Sunday J. E. Jones of Portage the leading spirit in the line, E. Peckard of Indianapolis and William Plinford of Madison came to Janesville from Madison by auto over the proposed route returning on Monday to the Capital city.

Recently the line filed a bond in Madison for the completion of the line into that city, with cars running by January 1, and Mr. Jones stated while in this city that the road to Janesville would be started and completed within the next twelve months. The line is nearly all graded and tracks laid from Portage to Madison, and cars will be running on this division shortly after the first of the year.

Today Engineers Clark of New York and Sloan of Chicago, representing the McArthur Bros., road-builders, are traveling by train from Madison to this city to estimate the cost of construction of the line, preparatory to their company putting in a bid for the construction of the same shortly after the first of the year. They will reach Janesville by Thursday, probably.

MOTHERS MEET IN REGARD TO TANGO

Will Take Broad Steps in Planning Methods to Teach Refined Dancing in Janesville.

Mother's in this city, one hundred or more strong, met this afternoon in the library hall at three o'clock, to discuss the tango and other popular dances, in an attempt to abolish objectionable dancing in the city, and make it more of an ideal pastime. It is not the idea of the mothers to eradicate the tango, or to stop other dancing entirely, but to teach the young persons of Janesville in place of the dance of more objectionable type.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hatch were present at the meeting this afternoon, and they danced the refined tango for the benefit of the mothers, to give them some idea of the new dance when it is danced right. They also demonstrated the old way of dancing it.

It has been suggested by some of the mothers to have a large class meet perhaps one night each week for three or more weeks, and have them instructed the revised tango to the anxious young people desiring to dance this new hobby.

ELGIN PRICE GOES OVER CENT HIGHER

Quotation is Made at 30% on Monday—Consumers Can Look for Slight Advance.

Butter has gone up a notch. The advance this week over last is one and a quarter cents, the Elgin quotation of Monday being 20%. Chicago and Milwaukee markets quote butter prices around 20 cents, the best quality bringing as high as 20 1/2. Fancy dairy butter brings from 25 to 29 cents in the big market centers.

Local consumers can look for a slight advance in retail prices of butter during the present week as a result of the advance in Elgin. Owing to an error the quotation in Monday evening's paper was given as 34% instead of 30%. It isn't quite as bad as that. Not yet anyway.

LIVESTOCK MARKET IS SLOW AND WEAK

Hogs Barely Hold to Monday's Advance While Cattle Meet With Slow Trade.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Trade on the livestock market this morning was slow and weak, yesterday's prices barely holding for cattle and hogs. Receipts were light except for sheep, 28,000 head being in the pens. The sheep trade was fairly active and satisfactory. Following are quotations:

EGG PRICES UP AGAIN; SELLING AT THIRTY CENTS

The high price of meat and the big demand for eggs to escape the cost of the meat are the principal reasons for eggs soaring again to the thirty cent mark. Without some unexpected relief the dealers expect that they will go higher. Even at this price very few fresh eggs are coming from the farmers here as "the hens are on a strike" and cannot be coaxed to lay the golden egg.

BY WALT MASON

When the Lunatics foregather to discuss the bill of fare, there is grief in every bosom for they seat in a chair. Where is Harry Thaw? they question: "we have missed him for a while, we have missed his winning smile. Lone some is the place without him, and our games all spirit lack; we are sighing for our playmate—bring our little Harry back! And the keepers, sad and lonely, turn away to hide a tear: they, too, miss the youth who cheered them, in the golden yesterday. Put away his safety razor, put away his fountain pen! Put in lavender his nightgown! He will not then ne'er again. From the place that knew and loved him, little Harry's skipped and gone, and the bird of grief broods darkly over mournful Mattheawan. When attorneys cease their jangling, he may grace your halls once more! After forty years of lawing, he may totter to your door! But the present generation will be dead and underground ere his joyous peals of laughter through your corridors resound! Till that time, O grim asylum, you may weep for him in vain. Put away his box of talcum, put away his lacquered cane!

MELANCHOLY WOMEN

Should Profit by Mrs. Hurley's Experience—Her Own Story Here Told.

Eldon, Mo.—"I was troubled with displacement, organic inflammation and female weakness. For two years I could not stand on my feet long at a time and I could not walk two blocks without enduring cutting and drawing pains down my right side which increased once a month. I have been at that time purple in the face and would walk the floor. I could not lie down or sit still sometimes for a day and a night at a time. I was nervous, had very little appetite, no ambition, melancholy, and often felt as though I had not a friend in the world."

"After I had tried most every female remedy first, without success, my mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and gained in strength every day. I have now no trouble in any way and highly praise your medicine. It advertises itself."—Mrs. S. T. HURLEY, Eldon, Missouri.

Remember, the remedy which did this was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For sale everywhere.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means have failed. Why don't you try it?

Owes His Life to This Lung Remedy

If you neglect a continued cough or cold you are in constant danger of easily contracting serious Lung Trouble. The cough or cold which does not yield to ordinary treatment should be a warning to you that preventive measures should be taken as soon as possible. In many cases Eckman's Alternative, a remedy for Cough and Lung Troubles, has brought permanent recovery. Read story.

CHAPTER VII.

In the Night Hours.

Holton smiled gamely. "I am ready, sir."

"The admiral nodded and paced thoughtfully up down his cabin for a moment. "In a few moments," he said at length, "I am going over to the Segura. From there we shall land at Aserradero to meet General Garcia and discuss several matters, including a landing-place for the army. You will accompany me and meet the Cubans." He paused.

"Very good, sir," replied Holton. "When we return you will not return with us. You will remain with the Cubans. You will be introduced, not as a naval officer, but as the correspondent of an English newspaper. Of course you must change your uniform."

"Yes, sir."

"While you are with the Cubans it is particularly desirable that you further the investigations you have made already along the lines of Cuban plots against our troops, but, above all, I should consider your service most valuable if you could work your way into Santiago and determine by whatever means the plans of the Spanish fleet."

"If any information comes to you and you are unable to reach the flagship, I shall expect you to signal from any height within sight of my vessel. I shall have a man detailed, beginning tomorrow, to watch for any signals of the sort from you. Do you quite understand everything I have said?"

"Yes, sir."

"Very well. If you have time to change your clothing aboard the Gnat and join our landing party at the Segura, we'll take you ashore with us. Otherwise you can go ashore in your dingy and meet us there."

Holton saluted, paused a moment as the admiral seemed about to speak, and then as the commander, with his half-weary air, turned to a sheet of correspondence, Holton left the cabin and was soon on his way to the Gnat. Here he changed his white uniform coat for a canvas shooting-jacket, his white trousers for a pair of khaki breeches and leggings, and, throwing his cap into a corner, took in its place a felt campaign hat of the Marine Corps. Around his waist he strapped a Colt, filled the belt with bullets, and then went up on deck.

He saw the admiral's gig bounding toward the headquarters transport, and was on the point of proceeding to her himself when upon second thought he ordered the seaman at the oars to take him ashore. The tide was low, and the landing was made without difficulty in a beautiful bay.

Holton took a pipe from his pocket and dismissing the dingy, sat down to wait. The time was not long, for within half an hour the officer saw several four-oared gigs rounding the stern of the transport and making shoreward. As he arose a low whistle sounded in the mangrove behind him, and as though by magic two lines of Cuban soldiers appeared, the officers quite smartly attired, but the men ragged and unkempt.

All stood rigid as the white longboat, with Admiral Sampson in his spotted duck uniform and Shafter with his garb of blue and gold, approached the shore.

As soon as the landing was made the officers were placed on animals brought to carry them, and the trip through the mangrove jungle, and thence up the mountain trail to Garcia's camp began. It was a hot, laborious climb, and the uniforms of some of the officers were not immaculate when they finally reached the headquarters of the Cuban commander, which consisted of a hut of grass.

The conference began at once, while the men passed among the visitors refreshing cups of coconut milk, together with mangoes and pineapples. Decision as to the places most suitable for landing having been made, the Americans prepared to return to their vessels.

Bugles sounded, the half-starved soldiers lined the trail once more, and the procession started upon its descent. As Admiral Sampson was about to leave he turned to Garcia as though struck by sudden thought, and placed his hand on Holton's shoulder.

"Mr. Ogilvie, of the London Standard, who has been with me, wishes to view a part at least of this campaign from the Cuban standpoint, and I promised him I should speak to you. Can you take him for awhile?"

Garcia regarded Holton with penetrating black eyes and then bowed slightly.

"I should be most happy to have him with us," he smiled. "I am afraid our fare will be most humble and our life without even the little comforts one expects in war."

"Oh, I'm sure Mr. Ogilvie will not object."

"Thank you, not at all," Holton interjected.

He produced a batch of credentials which had been handed him by the admiral's aide an hour or so before, and gave them to General Garcia.

The Cuban, however, declined to examine them, returning them with an air of winning politeness.

That night in a Cuban camp, with the stars overhead, Holton sat with General Garcia and his officers and listened with quick sympathy while Garcia told of his imprisonment by the Spaniards ten years before, and of the sufferings and cruelties which eventually led him to shoot himself in the head in an effort to end it all. His release and the long fight for the freedom of his country sounded like a romance.

And now, after all the discouragements and all the travail he had had just entertained high officers of a nation greater than Spain, who had come here to assist in the cause so dear to him.

"Mr. Ogilvie," he said, "I feel tonight that I have not lived in vain. The end is now near. I have prayed I might some day see this. Now my prayers have been answered."

Holton nodded with great sympathy, and thereafter his attitude towards this war underwent a change. Formerly his spirit, like that of many of his brother officers, had been one of aloofness, so far as Cuba was immediately concerned. It was the war itself, the chances of glory, the prospects for quick promotion, the opportunities for putting into practice that which they had learned, which had carried the great appeal, the cause of Cuba remaining very much in the abstract.

Now Holton saw the situation in a different light. He could feel intimately that he was engaged in a work for humanity; that he was to be one of those who were to be concerned in actively bringing into the world a new nation.

Then, filled with the heaviness of the climate, he spread his blanket upon a bed of boughs, and lulled by the sighing of the leaves, he closed his eyes and was soon asleep.

He must have slumbered an hour, when he awoke suddenly. Ordinarily he was a sound sleeper, and he knew that his awakening was due to some outward cause.

He lay for a moment wondering, and then the sound of low voices gave him the cause of his rousing. A glance toward General Garcia's quarters revealed to him the figure of that soldier, gazing thoughtfully into a small fire. A second glance showed that the old soldier was conversing with an officer whom he had not noticed before.

Holton wound himself snugly in his blanket and was about to fall asleep when a sentence arrested his mind and brought him wide awake.

"I do not ask you, general, what your convictions as to the United States are. I tell you merely what circumstances may arise and ask you what you would do in that event."

Garcia shook his head slowly.

"I decline to discuss improbabilities, or rather impossibilities," he answered. "The United States has acted nobly, and will go on to act."

"Nevertheless," persisted his inquisitor, "I ask you what you would do. Come, come,"—Holton recognized by his manner a personage of some authority in the Cuban cause—"it would be so easy for you to say that until Cuba is absolutely free no drop of blood in your body is your own."

his hand moves, so will I abide. He has sent the Americans here and he will send them away in good season after their work is done. If not, then so be it."

For a moment there was silence. Then Garcia spoke again.

"You have nothing to fear. It is my thought that unless our American friends make a speedy ending of this campaign they will be routed by disease, and if they do not fly they will die, surely and certainly. And thus even if I agreed with you in your contentions, I should still advocate leaving the matter to God."

"Time will tell. And how you must sleep, general. Who was that American," he added, "who remains with you?"

"He is not English; he is American."

"Admiral Sampson vouched for him. But at any rate, suppose he is an American? He might be that and still be a writer for the English press."

General Garcia arose decisively.

"As you suggest," he said, "I must sleep. There is yet much before me."

"There is much yet before us all," grumbled the officer. "Good night, general."

As Garcia turned to his tent the man walked to the fire; he leaned down, seized an ember and lighted a cigarette. The flames shone full upon his face.

With a half gasp Holton arose in his blanket, and then, as the fellow straightened up, he sank back upon the boughs. But his eyes never left the man's face.

At length, with quick motion, the Cuban turned toward Holton, who had just time to close his eyes. Thus he lay tense, listening for the sounds that would have caused him to spring to his feet—the sounds of the man's footsteps approaching him.

But the sounds did not come. As Holton at length opened his eyes he saw the man writing by the light of the fire upon a small pad lying on his knee.

"You are indeed a good waiter, my friend," muttered Holton to himself, and rising from his blanket he walked noiselessly toward the fellow he had first seen in the dining-room at the New Willard.

So deeply was the man engrossed in his writing that Holton's movement was unnoticed by him. And for this Holton thanked him sincerely before he had gone two steps.

He acted upon impulse in rising from his blanket, and without any definite intention save that of accosting the man. But now the futility of doing this in the camp, with Garcia not yet asleep, and without any well-informed plans for dealing with him appealed to him forcibly. He stopped suddenly in his tracks and then stole back to his bed of boughs.

Holton's mind was in sore quandary as to what to do. Unquestionably this man held a high place in the esteem of Garcia, who just as certainly had no idea that he was a Spanish spy.

As to the conversation, Holton believed he had the key to that; the spy was engaged in the process of poisoning the minds of Cuban leaders against the Americans, a plot which, if carried forward successfully and rapidly, might seriously affect the present campaign, and at the same time have a decided tendency to give point to certain relations already strained with several powerful foreign nations.

One thing was sure, the moves of this man must be checked, and sharply. Just how was the question.

Dinner Stories

"I always did dislike men who have no car for music," said one girl, "and now I dislike them more than ever. Charley Nevergo called to see me yesterday evening. At 11 o'clock I went to the piano."

And played "Homo. Sweet Home!" said the other girl.

"Yes. First I played it as a ballad. He didn't move. Then I played it as a waltz, a polka and then a ragtime."

"And what did he do?"

"He said, 'Gracious, Miss Jones, what a jolly lot of tunes you know! And all so different!'"

Little Anna was visiting the city for the first time. She had noticed the beautiful red and white swan boats as they passed through the park in the morning, and her aunt had promised that after the shopping was done they should come back and have a ride.

Early in the afternoon they returned and stood on the bridge, over the lagoon watching the boats below and listening to the cry of the barker as he tried to induce the passers-by to patronize the swan boats.

Anna clutched her aunt's hand tightly as she moved toward the landing, and declared vehemently that she did not want to go. Her aunt was puzzled until she noticed the boatman's call.

"Come one, come all! Ride clear around the pond. Only 5 cents for ladies and gents—children throw in!"
